

GROUP 4: ASSETS WORTH LESS THAN $2,200

Workshop 3: Our Choices

Mohammad Faisal Hossain

I am 12 years old. My father left many years ago and now my mother, younger brother and sister are all dependent on me for income. I do not go to school and instead divide my day up with two jobs. I hand out newspapers at busy railway stations and bus stops in the morning while in the afternoon I work for a local bus company collecting fares and shouting out destinations.

See Mohammad's video here

“Even at the end of a busy day, I will have barely have made $1. I hate this job and there is lots of risk. I want to go to school but we simply can’t afford it.”

Bangladesh?

Are the majority of people now living in urban or rural areas?

How are children at increased risk in cities?

A sustainable future requires sustainable cities - how can technology help us to achieve that?
