Workshop 3: Our Choices

Sahar Mohammed

I am 17 years old. I am a senior in high school and along with my class mates raised money to help the Syrian child refugees living here in Iraq. Through bake sales and other community events, we raised enough money to buy school uniforms and back to school materials. We came here today to give the supplies to the children. They told us they really like school and when they grow up, they want to be something helpful to their communities.
